

Dissertation Proposal Checklist

- The title of my dissertation clearly shows what the proposed project is about.
- My proposal has a clear topic statement.
- My proposal has a hypothesis that is elaborated upon.
- My proposal provides a context for why I've picked the topic.
- I have justified my topic with relevant literature.
- I have cited each reference properly.
- The reader will understand what my project is about.
- The proposed thesis addresses a knowledge gap in my field.
- I have outlined the methods I will use to collect my data and test my hypothesis.
- I have described my methodology in detail.
- I have justified the methods I will be using.
- I have laid out a potential and realistic timeline to complete the research.
- I am using the correct citation style prescribed by my university.
- The reference and bibliography section are properly formatted.

